HOMEWORK

12th September 2017

Dear Parents/Carers,

Last year we introduced a new way of setting homework which proved to have a mixed response from parents. As a result, we have decided to change our approach to setting homework making it more flexible for everyone.

Through the course of a half term, children will be able to choose from a range of activities which support the learning in Maths, English and other curriculum subjects. They should choose one activity per week which is to be handed in on a Thursday and recorded in their homework book appropriately. Homework books will be given back to the children on the following day once they have been marked.

Activities must only be completed once.

Good quality homework will be rewarded through the new house point system which will be introduced next week.

It is our hope that parents and children will find the activities challenging and enjoyable. Homework is an important way of supporting the children's learning; one which the school works hard to ensure is clearly directed, fun and worthwhile and meets the needs of all learners.

Attached to this letter is an example of the type of activities teachers will be setting their classes. Please spend some time reading through it and talking about it to your child. We look forward to receiving the first set of completed activities from the children.

Yours sincerely
